How Do I Assess Performance?

Periodic Self-Assessment

Excerpted from the IIA’s Quality Assessment Manual for the Internal Audit Activity
External Assessments

• Must be performed at least every five years

• Two options: full external assessment or self-assessment with independent validation

• In order to know if you’re ready for an external assessment, ask yourself:
  1. Does your group conform with the standards?
  2. Is your QAIP comprehensive and complete?
  3. Have you solicited feedback from key stakeholders?
  4. What are your expectations related to strategic goals?

Polling Question

Has your organization had an external assessment or self-assessment with independent validation in the past five years?

• Yes
• No
• Not Sure
Common Pitfalls

- The charter does not address purpose, authority, and responsibility.

- A QAIP is not in place and/or internal or external assessments are not performed or are not performed timely.

- Staff is not qualified, or necessary staffing resources are not available.

- There is a lack of evidence to support conclusions, or there is improper record retention.

Common Pitfalls

- IA activities are not aligned with organizational objectives.

- There is a lack of supervision and/or adequate review.

- Follow-up and remediation is not performed.

- There are no metrics to assess performance, or staff isn’t adequately evaluated.

- There is lack of independence/proper reporting within the organization.
Evidence of Success

• Results of internal and external assessments
• Positioning within the organization
• Becoming more forward-looking
• Greater adaptability in implementing process changes
• Enhanced productivity and focus on value-added activities
• Improved audit staff morale, all ideas are welcome
