Before you indulge in all that is Valentine’s Day, join us for an informative meeting on ETHICS. With so many certifications requiring Ethics CPE, this will be a great opportunity to earn 2 hours of Ethics CPE at a VERY reasonable price.

Our speaker is Sedrik Newbern, an Operations Director for NASBA Center for Public Trust (CPT), from Nashville, TN. The mission of NASBA Center for the Public Trust is to develop, empower, and promote ethical leaders. The CPT addresses the issue of ethics and ethical behavior in business, education, public policy and society, while promoting a positive perspective on activities within the business and accounting communities.

Hope you can join us on Tuesday, February 11, 2020.

Speaker Bio: Sedrik Newbern

Sedrik Newbern is Operations Director for The Center for Public Trust, an Amazon best-selling author and a John Maxwell Certified Coach, Trainer and Speaker. When Sedrik shows up, relationships are recreated into workable, productive alliances that produce measurable results for individuals and businesses. Years of experience have taught Sedrik that personal and business difficulties always stem from relationships that are stuck, burdened and unworkable. Sedrik has an innate ability for identifying what isn’t working and revealing it so that relationships can be recreated into something that is life-giving and empowering.

A native of Nashville, TN, Sedrik holds a BS in Marketing from Western Kentucky University and an MBA with a concentration in Economics from Tennessee State University.

Sedrik attributes his success as an entrepreneur and corporate leader to the support and motivation he receives from his wife, Denise and their son, Matthew.

Auditing Anti-Bribery Programs

By: Hans Nieuwlands, CIA, CGAP, RA

This report introduces the concepts of bribery and corruption and the need to stop it. Internal audit is well positioned to evaluate the design, implementation, and effectiveness of the organization’s anti-bribery program.

Within the last decade, the world has changed considerably when it comes to combating bribery. Global companies have legal and ethical obligations to conduct their business honestly. This report creates awareness that the role of internal audit is vital to the success of an anti-bribery program. It introduces the concepts of bribery and corruption and the need to stop it. The report also includes a sample anti-bribery program.

Readers will learn:
- The importance of combating bribery
- Initiatives from leading global organizations
- Impacts of national laws on global operations
- The elements of a structured anti-bribery program
- How to audit anti-bribery measures

Anti-bribery programs that are fully implemented and continuously monitored can be a powerful way to protect an organization against the risk of bribery and corruption. Internal audit is well positioned to evaluate the design, implementation, and effectiveness of the organization’s anti-bribery program.
