Our Chapter's Official Website
It’s sometimes a bit of a struggle to find a topical article for the newsletter. In the past members have brought some forward and we have gratefully published them, but writing is time consuming and the one thing none of us seem to have is more time.

In recent newsletters, I have republished from the IA magazine, sometimes in the hope that you have ignored the magazine and the article is not just a repeat. This time though I will borrow from a different source, from our Vancouver Island Chapter Wordpress Blogging site.

It was mostly active from 2011 through to 2014 but somehow many of the messages are the same. Here’s a few. You can access the site to see others.

We are always recruiting…….. (Oct 7, 2011)

Really, we are always recruiting…not cowboys but committed volunteers.

Since the chapter inception in 2007, I think the chapter has delivered quite fantastically several values to this local internal audit community such a variety of local PD events, an IIA exam site in Victoria, several efforts toward the professional advocacy.

I have worked with several internal audit leaders on the chapter boards. I admired quite a few of them on their dedication, insight, professional connection and entrepreneurship. Several of them have moved on but I still miss them: David Fairbotham, Robin Arnold, Kelly Dorin and to name a few. I still remember the first board meeting. We started from sitting together and looking each other “Okay, what do we need to do?” Now, we have a good program plan in place for each year. We have made our operations more efficient and transparent. We always look for what other values the chapter can provide to our members.

We expect solid outcomes (quality, enjoyable PD events) but they do not come free. However, the most important element of the chapter is committed volunteers that make things happen. We have a few of them on board now but we need more. The more (of committed volunteer), the merrier.

P.S. The picture was taken from the first Canadian (IIA) National Conference in Calgary in Sep 2008. That was a great event opening as you can see!
The Unforeseen Benefits (January 2012)

Almost five years ago when I was interested in being part of the chapter board, I only expected that I would get to know more fellow internal auditors in town. I subsequently met lots of people. I also enjoyed helping the chapter get going with chapter newsletters, website and later PD program. Given the size of our chapter, it was great to see how fast we grew even though along the process the chapter needed to do a good amount of work in setting up and rolling the program and etc. Then, I found some other unforeseen benefits.

What I did not expect was the exposure to how each chapter worked with the IIA HQ. I only realized the fact that the IIA organization was driven by volunteers – starting right from the local chapter level. I met with other Canadian chapter leaders and the representatives at the national level. Some of them totally impressed me in the level of their involvement and drive for the betterment of our professional. In my view, and you would agree, in a volunteer organization, it is much harder to steer all efforts to the same goals with an ideal pace. It was an eye-opening experience. It was inspiring to see how many others worked together for our profession.

Now that Canadian Council is working on establishing the Canadian Institute of Internal Auditors, it is another great opportunity to see how the initiative has been evolved. Not all steps would be considered perfect and it is moving ahead gradually at the outset but more quickly at the moment as all milestones are set. Local members have opportunities to get involved at the national and international levels through being part of the local chapter. Attending a Canadian National Conference is another venue that we can connect with other fellow internal audit practitioners.

I would encourage IIA members to get involved with their local chapter or attending a Canadian National Conference (this year in Montreal – you may need to persuade your employer a bit more.) or other IIA conferences. It is always motivating attending that type of events. We will never know what benefits we would get from the decision to be a bit more involved with your profession's organization.
“I Don’t Have Time for This.” Ok, Who Else Does? (March 2014)

In a volunteer environment like IIA local chapters, the time spent by volunteers can be very significant, to plan, organize, and implement activities. I am always impressed with many IIA volunteers I have come across that put lots of their effort and hard work to progress whatever they aim to do, for their members and larger community, i.e. IIA Canada and the profession.

Given the same context, it is also understandable that personal circumstances of individual volunteers may change. Changes in one’s career. Changes in workload at work. Changes in personal life e.g., studies in graduate or professional programs. These constraints directly put pressure on them to participate or follow their commitment or other fellow volunteer’s expectation. When one starts saying “I don’t have time for this.”, it is naturally expected that workload is shifted to others. Would others always have time for extra volunteer work? Maybe yes. Likely not. Now it comes to whether the work left behind should be ignored and let it slipped away. That is the question of a quality of volunteerism, at both individual and organizational levels – Effectiveness. Many volunteer groups do not have it and that results in their organization’s mandate undermined, their objectives not achieved, and their volunteer motivation running dry.

Fortunately, our chapter always has someone step up to ensure work is completed, commitment is followed, and leadership is demonstrated. As a chapter member, I am grateful with that.

Is there a hidden message in the above. Did I select three blogs (all by Governor Teeravit Chintawongvanich) that seem to be based on volunteerism and recruiting because I would like to see some more members become involved in chapter leadership?

Well Yes. We will always accept interested members who have the time and desire to help out the profession and join us in supporting our chapter, whether it be taking on planning and facilitating an event for our programs team, writing an article, or volunteering to give a presentation on something they are passionate about and think should be shared with colleagues.

And No. I think I selected these as a message of thanks to all of the past volunteer board members that helped us reach this point. We are in our 10th year. We will achieve Gold Status for the 10th time, which means we move onto Platinum. That is a marker of our dedication and support to the chapter and our membership.

Thanks to our 10 years of board volunteers!!!

Fraud Risk Management Guide

Issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO), this Fraud Risk Management Guide recommends ways in which governing boards, senior management, staff at all levels, and internal auditors can deter fraud in their organization.

This guide provides implementation guidance that defines principles and points of focus for fraud risk management and describes how organizations of various sizes and types can establish their own fraud risk management program. It also includes examples of key program components and resources that organizations can use as a starting place to develop a fraud risk management program effectively and efficiently. Each organization needs to assess the degree of emphasis to place on fraud risk management based on the organization’s size and circumstances.

The guide also contains valuable information for users who are implementing a fraud risk management process. For example, it addresses fraud risk management roles and responsibilities, fraud risk management considerations for smaller organizations, data analytics employed as a part of fraud risk management, and managing fraud risk in the government environment.

Internal Auditor Magazine Scholarships

Internal Auditor will offer six, $1,000 essay scholarships throughout 2016. Essay questions will be based on the current Internal Auditor issue, and winners will be chosen by a volunteer subcommittee from the Publications Advisory Committee. The students who write the most informative and intuitive essays on internal audit subjects will be selected as the winner. Winning essays will be published on InternalAuditor.org and reference both the chapter and university with which the winner is associated. In addition, the three finalists for each scholarship will be given a free, one-year student membership to The Institute of Internal Auditors. Scholarship winners will be notified within the month following the application period.

Students will download the scholarship application form to get started. Once they have completed their essay, they will submit both the completed application form and their essay to Scholarship@theiia.org.

The scholarship essay topics and submission periods are as follows:

October 2016 – 30 November 2016:
How can internal auditors work with the second line of defense when conducting compliance risk assessments?

December 2016 – 31 January 2017:
How can internal auditors best communicate difficult findings/messages to their customers and stakeholders?

The IIA’s Academic Relations Program

For decades, The IIA has been committed to Academic Relations by providing dedicated staffing and volunteer support. As the profession evolved, so did the needs of the academic community for “internal audit-ready” graduates to enter the business arena and meet the demand for graduates with a reduced learning curve.

Welcome New Members!

- Welcome to 18 new IIA VI chapter student members currently enrolled in the Camosun ACCT-385 Internal Audit course.

IIA VI Chapter Provincial Government Group Membership

Are you a provincial government employee but not part of a group at renewals time (i.e. renewals are not managed by your office - you renew individually and claim for reimbursement, or not)? If so, you may wish to consider joining the IIA Vancouver Island Government Group.

We will ask you to fill out the membership form, but will not submit the form until close to your renewal time (a few weeks in advance), Then when we get invoiced, we will be able to let you know how much of a saving has been achieved. Hopefully you won’t be renewed by your office in the middle of the process, but then there’s always next year.

Save Money?

Yes, there is a form to complete and an alignment of your renewal to November 30th each year, but you benefit from discounted membership fees. We recently merged with the IAAS Group and right now, the discount is our maximum possible at $45USD per year, or a total of $110USD for each membership; and will stay that way if we can maintain a minimum of 50 members in the group. Your membership will be pro-rated for renewal through our registration site every November.

We will also reach out to you closer to your renewal time if we determine that you might be interested in this group. Note that in most cases we don’t know how your membership is paid for so feel free to reach out to us first.

For more details, please contact our Membership Chair at gtranter@uvic.ca.
The Government of BC Group Membership

Initiated by our Past President Kelly Dorin a few years ago, the Government of BC group has reached 58 members, 7 shy of our potential with a few outstanding individuals we will invite to join over the coming months.

Kelly started with a small group of 14 and we just kept growing. We didn’t really expect to reach 50 members and were happy with the discount from surpassing 25, so it has been a doubly successful year!

For members of this group (you have be a provincial employee or work in a GRE), we have attained the highest discount we can for a chapter our size. Instead of $155USD ($214CAN) per year, your membership fee will be $110USD ($152CAN) for the coming year. A savings to group members of just under $3500 in total.

We expect to lose a few members (retirements and external opportunities), but we will be working to pick up new members and stay above that magic 50 number demarcation line.

RENEWAL TIME!

But, the time has finally come. Through the month of November we will be collecting the 2016-2017 dues.

As many of you will now know, we have already setup our Gifttool registration system with the individual renewal in Canadian funds current exchange rates.

Each unit/group/department can select to pay for multiple members. To do this, you identify how many members are being covered, and list who they are in a comment box on the registration form. Plus you get the receipt immediately.

We will do the rest. We will collect dues through November and then send a massive payment off to the IIA from the chapter. We will also work with the IIA to make sure that the group membership roster is accurate.

The chapter will absorb any exchange rate flux and any transaction and credit card fees out of our administration and membership budget. A slightly more tangible member benefit keeping funds in your pocket.

Please do submit your dues to us in a timely manner. We need to get the funds in and get them to the IIA to maintain our rates.

There are still opportunities to join this group, even now during renewal month.

For more details, please contact our Membership Chair at gtranter@uvic.ca.

Presentation Overview: Auditing in the public sector means more than simply determining if controls are in place and regulations are being followed. Public sector auditing, in many cases, means you will be dealing with varied constituents and often working in a more public forum.

For new and experienced government and public sector auditors facing these unique challenges, this course will provide new insight that includes assessing whether or not control frameworks are working to further an organization’s goals and achievements. By learning to review an organization or department’s objectives and assess the risk to achieving them, public sector auditors in this program will be able to effectively evaluate the organization and ensure that it is working toward or maintaining a high level of performance.

This course will cover the following topics:
- Definition of Performance Auditing
- Management Issues, Concerns, and Functions
- Control Frameworks
- Risk-based Approach to Performance Auditing
- Value-for-money Approach to Performance Auditing

The Amazing Chief Audit Executive

A CEO was throwing a large party and was taking his executives on a tour of his opulent mansion.

At the back of the property was the largest swimming pool any of them had ever seen. The huge pool, however, was filled with hungry crocodiles.

The CEO said to his executives “I think an executive should be measured by courage. Courage is what made me CEO.

So this is my challenge to each of you – if anyone has enough courage to dive into the pool, swim through those crocodiles and make it to the other side, I will give that person anything they desire.”

Everyone laughed at the outrageous offer and continued on with the tour of the estate.

Suddenly, they heard a loud splash. Everyone turned around and saw the CAE in the pool, swimming for his life.

He dodged the crocodiles left and right and made it to the other edge of the pool with seconds to spare.

The flabbergasted CEO approached the CAE and said, “You are amazing. I’ve never seen anything like it in my life. You are brave beyond measure and anything I own is yours. Tell me what can I do for you?”

The CAE, panting for breath, look up and said “You can tell me who the hell pushed me in the pool!”
